THEY'VE SEEN HOW IT ENDS.

Mirta and Alizabeth lived under Castro's communist regime in Cuba. They lost their homes, their freedom, and nearly everything else. They came to America with almost nothing, and they love this country.

Now they're warning us. It didn't happen overnight in Cuba. It came one freedom at a time, through promises of fairness and security.

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness."

Declaration of Independence, July 4, 1776

Don't Surrender America is a citizen movement that lets survivors of communism, socialism, and religious tyranny tell their stories in their own words. Their testimony opens eyes in a way no argument can.

More stories are in production. This kit helps you share the ones that are live today.
